'Safety Parade' Gets Princeton Support

Local Agency Joins Move to Reduce Accidents on Streets

Princeton schools, business places and homes this week displayed for the first time a new 1940-41 Safety calendar.

It's called "Let's All Help" and shows a safety parade, Young America leading a parade against needless suffering and death. Clear eyes, bright faces and happy smiles of these healthy youngsters show that they believe that their "Let's All Help" parade will keep them and their chums from hospital cots.

Surely the plague of motor vehicle accidents is giving way to the educational efforts and intensive drive for Safety First.

There were 39,643 deaths from auto accidents in 1937, 32,400 in 1938, and 32,100 in 1939, with preliminary figures for 1940 indicating a further decrease, despite an increase in auto mileage.

Harry Anderson, painter of this picture, the same displayed on the calendar, has achieved national prominence in his ability to make boys and girls as they are; to catch their whims and moods.

Mark Cunningham, manager of the Service Insurance Agency, distributors of this calendar, says: "We hope this picture tightens people's heart strings, reminds us that we must be prepared to stop quickly should a thoughtless child run before our car."

"Of automobile accidents in which children are killed, 71 per cent occur when they are crossing or playing in the street. This calendar is a part of our educational campaign to remind children and adults alike to work for safety."

Roominess at Low Cost

Associated Press Feature Service

WITH THREE bedrooms, two bathrooms, closets aplenty and a full basement, this modified Georgian colonial house is a family home, a housewife's dream.

Its original cost (approximately $4,000 in Grand Rapids, Mich.) is exceptionally low, considering the roominess and advantages of the design. (Cost does not include price of the lot.)

There's more than a touch of New England in the home, with its perky lean-to effect. The attached garage is a desirable feature.

The home was designed by Paul Schweiker, Inc., Chicago architects. Further information, plans and advice on financing may be obtained from the nearest Federal Home Loan Board office, or you may write the Federal Home Loan Board, Washington, D. C.

Wanna Stay In Bed All Day Tomorrow? If Superstitious, Maybe You'd Better

Associated Press Feature Writer
Tomorrow is Friday the Thirteenth.

Some people are so superstitious about it they won't get out of their beds, and maybe it's just as well. If they did, there would be a good chance something would happen to them. Science says so.

"Science doesn't take any stock in superstitions", says Dr. Lawrence W. Miller of the University of Denver, a psychologist well versed in the reasons behind human behavior.

"Nevertheless, if you are desperately fearful something is going to happen to you on Friday the Thirteenth, it is well to stay in bed."

"You may be so upset you'll be off your guard or you may concentrate so deeply on one fear that your alertness to other dangers will be diminished."

"Something entirely different from what you had expected and planned a defense against may happen and take you unawares. Thus trouble catches up with you on Friday the Thirteenth."

Some superstitions according to Dr. Miller, are good for people.

"There were superstitions about crime, adultery and property rights in olden times," says Dr. Miller. "For instance, the ghost of the victim was supposed to inhabit a murderer's soul and torment it."

"Such beliefs tended to restrain murderous or criminal inclinations at a time when there were neither laws nor policemen."

Only A Guess

Many superstitions are dated so far in antiquity nothing authentic is known of their origin. It's only a guess how many modern ones were started.

"Some students say the common superstition that it is bad luck to light three on a match had its origin in recent wars," says Dr. Miller.

"If a soldier lighted his cigarette and kept the match burning long enough for two or more other men to get a light, enemy sharpshooters had time to take careful aim and fire upon the match holder."

People who knock on wood to keep ill luck from intruding, usually after they have made a boast are observing a ritual that once was a religious one.

Form Of Supplication

"In ancient times pious people touched a wooden cross as a form of supplication," says Dr. Miller. "It was a prayer. They believed the cross cast a spell of good fortune about them. And so knocking on wood became an invitation to good luck."

The horseshoe probably is a sign of good luck because the horse has been a friend of man, Dr. Miller says.

Other things, like four-leaf clovers, are good luck symbols because a series of coincidences probably occurred in which a person had good luck immediately after he found, or otherwise handsomely associated with, a fourleaf clover or other object.

From Days of Black Magic

Similarly cats and witches are symbols of ill luck. Incidentally, says Dr. Miller, the black cat superstition dates back to the age of black magic when darkness was a symbol of evil things. People looked askance at anything black.

In one state a recent study disclosed 4,000 superstitions held by various citizens.

Navy Places Orders For 201 Warships

Largest Contract in History to Cost Nation $3,861,053,312

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON — Announcing the largest contract letting in its history, the navy placed orders Tuesday for 201 ships to cost a total of $3,861,053,312.

The department acted immediately after President Roosevelt signed at Hyde Park the $5,251,000,000 defense appropriation measure on which congress completed congressional action Friday.

The army also worked swiftly on contract awards and Stephen Early, White House press secretary, said at Hyde Park that war department orders totaling $524,000,000 would be completed in a few days.

Along with the ship contracts, the navy announced that officials were signing contracts calling for the expenditure of an additional $31,653,500 to expand naval establishments.

Officials said also that negotiation of contracts from approxi-

CITY EMPLOYEE LAUDS RETONGA FOR RELIEF

Had Tried Many Other Medicines Without Success, States Mr. Webster. Eats and Feels Like New Man

Every day scores of well-known men and women swell the ranks of the thousands who already reported Retonga gave them happy relief from distressing symptoms due to insufficient flow of gastric juices in the stomach and sluggish elimination. Mr. William H. Webster, 1425 Hellem St., trusted employee of the Henderson City Park Dept., is among the latest to come forward with his endorsement of Retonga.

"For three years I suffered miserably with loss of appetite, gassy stomach and constipation," declares Mr. Webster. "I could hardly eat anything. My bowels were so slow I had to take laxatives and I'd get so tired I could hardly get up the morning I felt almost weak to work."

"Now, after taking Retonga I can eat a hearty meal without suffering from gassy stomach. Retonga's timely effect was mild and factory. I sleep well and I am ready for another day's work. Retonga is the medicine I've ever taken. Retonga is a gastric tonic tended to increase the flow of gastric juices in the stomach help nature remove toxins from the bowels. September is Time To Plant Bluegrass

Lawn Bulletins are Available at County Agent's Office

September is the month to sow Kentucky bluegrass seed. Many home owners believe that because Caldwell county is not in the Blue Grass region they cannot have nice bluegrass lawns.

This idea is entirely erroneous, according to County Agent J. F. Graham. Good bluegrass lawns can be established here with a reasonable amount of care at seeding time and after the grass has become established. September is the natural seeding date for bluegrass under wild conditions and is, therefore, the best time for seeding it by hand.

Professor N. R. Elliott, landscape architect at the University of Kentucky, recommends the use of high grade Kentucky bluegrass seed weighing at least 21 pounds a bushel.

On establishing new lawns the seed can be sown at the rate of 40 pounds an acre, and on re-seeding old lawns at the rate of 10 pounds an acre.

"In many cases it may be necessary to treat soil with limestone to overcome acid condition and with a complete fertilizer to furnish plant food for the grass. It is always safest, however, to have a simple soil test made before using limestone application. If a fertilizer is used, it should not be applied until later in the fall, preferably November," Mr. Graham said.

September is also the month to watch weeds that might be in the lawn, in order to keep them from going to seed. Seeds prevented from curing now will mean that many less weeds in the lawn next summer.

Lawn bulletins will be furnished to those interested at the county agent's office in Princeton.

Tennessee Has Good Framework - - And if Sophomores Click - - Look Out

By Don Whitehead

Associated Press Feature Service
KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — Tennessee has the framework of another great football machine this fall, but it will take at least a trio of sensational sophomores to get it rolling along the Southeastern Conference championship track.

Major Bob Neyland, never averse to taking a chance, is ready to gamble with sophomores in plugging the gaps in the Volunteers' graduation-riddled ranks.

Six first-line men—three backs and two linemen—and several valuable reserves will be missing from the 1939 conference championship team which was undefeated, untied, and unscored on until Southern California turned them back 14-0 in the Rose Bowl.

Neyland must rebuild a backfield hard hit by the loss of Quarterback George Cafego, the West Virginian who sparked the Volunteers through two undefeated seasons; Sam Bartholomew, one of the South's best blocking backs and Fullbacks Len Coffman and Joe Wallen.

The line will return intact except for Center Jimmy Rike and Tackle Boyd Clay.

Neyland's hardest job will be replacing Cafego. He expects to accomplish this by shifting his ace wingback, blond Bob Foxx of Knoxville, into the tailback slot at least for part-time duty.

Other tailbacks will be Johnny (Rhett) Butler of Knoxville, last year's sophomore sensation who is a bit too light for regular duty; Bulst Warren of Miami, Fla., and Van Thompson of Knoxville.

Two husky sophomores, Bill Meek of Birmingham, Ala., and Chester Robertson of Oklahoma City, Okla., are being groomed as blocking backs, but veteran Ike Peel of Dyersburg, Tenn., a reserve last year, probably will get the call.

Jim Swartzinger, Garfield, N. J., sophomore, is expected to do heavy duty at the wingback post along with Bob Andridge of Knoxville and Foxx is not in the tailback slot.

Neyland has four fullbacks including a promising sophomore, Bill Nowling of St. Petersburg, Fla. If Nowling continues the smashing play he showed as a freshman Fred Newman of Knoxville probably will be shifted from the regular fullback post to do wingback duty.

All-American Ed Molinski of Massillon, O., and Bob Suffridge of Knoxville will be back to patrol the guard position, and Ed Cifers of Kingsport, Tenn., and Jimmy Coleman of St. Albans, W. Va., will return at ends, eliminating worry at those spots.

Need A Tackle

Abe Shires of Alderson, W. Va., a wheel-horse at left tackle for two years, will be in his old position, but a wide-open fight is in prospect for the other tackle job. Sophomore Leonard Simonetti of New Philadelphia, O., has come along fast and may oust his more experienced mates from the starting line.

The center duties will fall to Captain Norbert Akerman of Louisville, Ky., a fine defensive player, and his understudy, Ray Graves of Knoxville.

The Vols will meet their first major-league test Oct. 5 when they clash with the Duke Blue Devils, a game that will reveal whether they are still champs or just another country ball club.

Alabama's Crimson Tide and Tulane's Green Wave rank with the Vols in most pre-season predictions as the heavy-weights of the Southeastern loop, with Kentucky's Wildcats placed as an up-and-coming dark horse.

The last census of New South Wales, in 1938, showed roughly 1,380,000 males and 1,356,000 females.

Kentucky Boy Wins Scholarship

J. E. NEWTON, JR., of Anchorage, state champion boy automobile driver of Kentucky, won a $100 scholarship in the Ford Good Drivers League national finals at the Ford Motor pavilion, New York World's Fair, in late August. Edsel Ford, president of the League, personally handed him his award. In this photo Edsel Ford is shown with 18-year-old Gene M. Kennard, the Indiana boy who won the national boy driving championship, and his mother, Mrs. J. L. Kennard. The occasion was the League's first annual Champions Dinner at the Ford pavilion at the Fair, with Captain Eddie Rickenbacker as principal speaker. The League paid all expenses of Newton and an adult sponsor named by himself for a gala week of entertainment in New York. The object of the League is to promote safety on the highways by teaching every high school boy in America to drive expertly. Any boy between the ages of fourteen and eighteen, inclusive, may join without charge. Enrollment blanks may be obtained from any Ford, Mercury or Lincoln-Zephyr dealer.

Rules For State Trappers Given Under New Law

Anti-Steel Trap Act Puts Penalties Upon Old Methods in Kentucky

FRANKFORT, Sept. 10—Trapping regulations for 1940 under the new Anti-Steel Trap Law have been released for publication by the Division of Game and Fish.

For water animals, such as the muskrat and the mink, the Bridgell rubber-jawed trap, size 1, shall be used along the shores of streams, or pond where drowning sets may be made in the water at least 22 inches deep, so that the animal will be quickly drowned. No trap shall be set without a drowning device. These prevent not only trap thieving, but wring-offs and injuries to fur.

For land animals, the new chain loop legholds, which take without injury, shall be used. For larger animals, such as fox, wildcat and raccoon, the improved Verball chain loop is to be used, and for smaller, short-legged animals, such as skunk, weasel and opossum, the Epp Chain loop trap is to be used.

All furbearers may also be taken in homemade box or cage traps, or with the old-fashioned deadfall, or with instant killers set far back in holes or burrows. Every trap set shall be visited every 24 hours after setting, and any animal found therein killed instantly, or liberated unhurt.

Regulations also state that no person shall set any trap on the land of another without written consent of the owner, and no animal found therein killed, or so that a fine of not less than $10 or more than $50 is the penalty for any violation of this trapping law.

There is no open season for beaver and otter in Kentucky. As the raccoon is almost extinct in this State, trappers are requested, for their own future good, not to take raccoons, but to let them

No, Hitler Isn't Dead

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—A phoney message "Hitler killed" was transmitted early yesterday on the telegraph circuit linking government weather stations at major airports in the eastern half of the country.

Weather Bureau officials, who attributed it to a prankster, said they did not know the point of origin, but were investigating.

After a bolt of lightning shot down his chimney, demolished a section of the roof and tore away three sides of his house, Pete Sondergard of Danneberg, Neb., stepped out of bed unharmed.

MILLIONS suffer less from Headache, Acid Indigestion, Distress of Colds "Morning After" and Muscular Fatigue because they have heard and believed—Alka-Seltzer radio announcements. To these millions, the relief obtained by the use of Alka-Seltzer is worth far more than the genuine enjoyment they get from the broadcasts.

The most important parts of our radio program, both to you and to us, are the commercial announcements. Once you have tried Alka-Seltzer we believe you will agree with us.

But try Alka-Seltzer because it is an unusually effective medicine not because you enjoy the radio programs.

WHY ALKA-SELTZER IS SO EFFECTIVE
The pain-relieving analgesic in Alka-Seltzer is in complete solution, ready to ease the distress as soon as you swallow it. The pain-relieving action is made more effective by alkaline buffers. The alkalizing elements in Alka-Seltzer reduce excess stomach acidity.

WHY SHOULD we worry about affairs of state when we can look at pictures of Jean Forden in an 1880 bathing suit (red stripes, no skirt; first of the one-piece suits) advertising the Florida exhibit of the New York World's Fair? Why hurry to the financial section when the news page photographs of Jane Wyman of Hollywood and of Violet, who's posing in a bathing suit that resembles you-know-to get the name of Miami, Fla., in the paper?

Secret Weapon? The Greeks Had A Word For It

(Associated Press Feature)

Greatest secret weapon of all time was Greek fire.

By means of it the Byzantine or Eastern Roman empire ruled the Mediterranean and kept alive classical civilization for 1,000 years after Rome had fallen to barbarians.

The secret was guarded so well that chemists and military experts can only guess its composition today.

Used chiefly as a naval weapon, "Greek fire" was shot from siphons heaving the flame throwers of the first World war.

Water could not quench it. Projected from the tubes of the Byzantine biremes, it set on fire the ships of the Saracens at Cyzicus and assured their defeat. No fleet could stand against the "sea fire" of Byzantium.

Greek fire is supposed to have been invented by an architect named Callinicus (648-85), who had gone to Constantinople from Syria.

Modern military men believe it was composed of such materials as sulphur and napha with quicklime, and took fire spontaneously when wetted. It was projected and ignited by applying the hose of a water engine to the "breach" of the siphon, a wooden tube cased with bronze.

It was the mainstay of an empire thought corrupt and decadent, which by means of this "secret weapon" endured her centuries.
